COMMERCIAL CURRICULUM.

COMMITTEE OUTLINE THE WORK FOR NEXT YEAR.

Instruction in Diplomatic and Consular Service a New Feature.

The new College of Commerce recently added to the other University colleges, is now being organized. It is the only one on this coast and is attracting wide-spread attention. With the exception of Professor George Davidson, the instruction in this department will be conducted by professors already resident at the University. It is expected that work will be instituted next fall when the academic year opens.

A meeting of the committee in charge, composed of President Martin Kellogg and Professors George Davidson, Frederick Slate, Carl C. Plehn, E. W. Hilgard, T. R. Bacon and Bernard Mose, was held at the University yesterday. For the coming year the studies will be those of the colleges of moral science or of natural science, according to the choice of the students' group elective. There are to be three sets of these groups in the College of Commerce.

Group A is to include commercial law, economic history, commercial history, banking, currency and exchange, insurance, transportation, industrial and commercial organization, finance and taxation, statistics, diplomatic and political history and practice, duties of diplomatic and consular offices, commercial geography and allied subjects. The second group will probably include transportation, navigation, meteorology and climatology, and the third the materials of commerce, natural and technical sciences. One of the innovations which is comprehended by the courses of the new college is instruction in the diplomatic and consular service.

Starts Home.

Rev. J. A. Cruzan started from Honolulu yesterday on his way home from Hilo, Sandwich Islands. The steamer is likely to arrive at San Francisco about Wednesday next week.

Rev. E. Lyman Hood has very acceptably supplied the pulpit of the North Berkeley church four Sundays during Pastor Cruzan's absence.

Next Sunday morning a very interesting "Children's Day" service will be given by the Sunday school in place of the regular service, and in the evening Rev. Mr. Harrison will conduct the services.

REMINISCENCES, SPANISH CHARACTER.

REV. JAMES THOMPSON'S ADDRESS LAST NIGHT.

The Dons Polite, Revengeful, Untruthful, Hospitable and Fanatical.

Rev. James Thompson addressed the missionary meeting in the First Presbyterian Sunday school room last evening upon his personal experiences among the Spanish. He said we must remember that there are no more warm hearted, hospitable people on earth than the Spanish. Their latch string is always out. I have never been more cordially entertained, and it is well to remember this when we are fighting.

There is no angry feeling from our President down, among the intelligent people. The Spanish are easily led, are spontaneous to an extreme. Revenge is a matter of inheritance. The three hundred years which they spent under the control of Arabia taught them a great deal of politeness. They do not lie intentionally, but it is the tendency to be over-polite. When you visit them they offer you their house and all there is in it, but we must make a great deal of allowance. The Spaniard has learned, not only from the Arab but from the present, a mixture of hypocrisy which makes him so difficult to understand. The people have no confidence in the priests.

Men scarcely ever go to church. The women sustain the churches. They are the devotees. Men will never be seen at the confessional; they have so little confidence in the priests. The Spanish people have so little religious belief that they are on the verge of materialism, or almost anything. They would be ready to listen to the Gospel of Christ but for the priesthood.

It was no uncommon thing while I was preaching to have one come in from market, put her basket down by the door, come half way up the aisle, kneel down, mumble her prayers and go out. She knew it was a Protestant church but wanted some religious place to say her prayers before going home. There would be no difficulty in keeping the children in our school if the priests would not interfere. If the Spanish can first be induced to read the Bible then he wants to know what is said about the Virgin Mary.

It is so different from what has been taught them that the scales begin to fall from their eyes. The Roman Catholic is the only religion allowed by law in Peru, which makes it altogether different from a country where there is toleration.

There is an immense amount of fanaticism. I found one of their churches draped with mourning because the little silver dish which holds the wafer had been stolen; no one was allowed to enter and the members looked as if they had lost their last friend. It is very easy to excite the people under such circumstances. This crime was punishable by death. The Spaniard will stand bare-headed if he sees a funeral procession a block away, a fact which we might well imitate.

A man once came to me and asked what I would charge to make him a Protestant, because he wanted to get rid of his wife and their religion will not allow that. It costs so much to get married that the majority of Indians are not married; some Americans were not either. It also costs too much to die; the priests charge so much for funeral services. These laws breed corruption of the very worst type. The ignorance of the priesthood is appalling. One can see it in their physiology, large necks and red faces. I would not dare tell of what I know of their positively open villainess. It is the curse of South America.

No doubt that the Philippine Islands are as ready for the gospel as was France at the close of the German war.

New Unitarian Church Edifice.

The trustees of the First Unitarian Church have contracted with Kidder & Cooper for the construction of a church and Sunday school room, on plans prepared by A. C. Schweinfurth, for $3695. The church is to be located on the northeast corner of Bancroft way and Dana street, on a lot 98x113 feet. The payments are to be in four equal installments and the work is to be completed within four months. This new edifice will be in keeping with late Berkeley improvements.

From a Berkeleyan in Hawaii.

The following are extracts from a letter of one of the Berkeley boys now at Wailuku, Maui, Hawaii:

"Times are very good on the Islands and some of the sugar companies are paying from fifty to sixty per cent dividends. Manual labor is very cheap, although nearly any white man can get a position as overseer on a plantation with wages from fifty to sixty dollars per month and expenses.

It costs a native from fifteen to twenty dollars per year to live in luxury; his income, amounts to $180. Shows are always well patronized. Once when I was here a poor show charged $1 admission. The tent was full to overflowing with natives.

"The seas swarm with life; the natives capture large turtles, whose meat and eggs make a very dainty dish. Gold fish are found in almost every pond. Bananas, tomatoes and a great variety of delicious fruits grow wild in the valleys. The cool, refreshing trade winds blow nine months of the year. The natives sing and dance for hours in the bright moonlight nights. The islands may well be called the Paradise of the Pacific.

Durant Lodge Fleeting.

There will be a called meeting of Durant Lodge at I. O. O. F. hall on next Friday evening at 7:30. Work in the second degree. Members are earnestly requested to be present.

Baptists to Meet in San Francisco

A telegram just received from Rev. Wood at Rochester, N. Y., announces that the National Convention of Baptists now being held in that city has just voted to hold its '99 convention in San Francisco. This means the meeting of the representatives of 4,000,000 Baptists in San Francisco next year.

Rev. Wood was sent to the convention by the Ministerial Union of San Francisco and vicinity, and carried with him a widely signed petition asking that the Baptists meet with us next year. The success of his mission will give general satisfaction.

THE EPISCOPAL MISSION CONCERT.

ST. MATTHEW'S MISSION CHURCH BENEFIT.

Songs, Instrumental Music, Recitations, Tableaus and Impersonations.

The concert given last night in South Berkeley Hall by the members of St. Matthew Episcopal Mission was a grand success. Those who attended praised enthusiastically many parts on the program. Among those deserving especial notice was a violin duet by Mr. and Miss Radcliff, which the audience highly appreciated, manifesting their praise by a hearty encore; a fancy dance by Miss Eva Coxhead and Miss Sandey, which was very unique and elicited two encores; a song by Mrs. Mersfelder, whose beautiful contralto voice enchanted her audience, an impersonation of Mrs. Jarley by Miss Margaret Wilde, which was pronounced perfect; and a recitation by Mr. Wright, which also elicited an encore. Mr. Walley acted as master of ceremony, while Mr. Craig and Miss Irwin furnished the musical accompaniment. GAZETTE WAR BULLETINS.

The bulletins in the GAZETTE last evening practically contained the substance of several pages of the papers this morning. Real news does not always exist in the space devoted to it; padding is quite popular; however, and the best material is in confusion, and other sorts of padding, it wind-air-space—nothing.

SENATORIAL ELECTIONS.

For years there has been a growing sentiment in this country favoring the proposition to elect United States Senators by direct vote of the people. A recent test on this question was made in the House of Representatives on a proposed constitutional amendment providing for the election of senators by popular vote. The result of the vote upon the question is remarkable, being 118 ayes to 11 nays. It was really a surprise to the friends of the measure and yet there is no reason why it should be. A government operated and maintained by the people direct, as we hold ours to be, can consistently do no less than submit all questions of representation to the people who are to be represented. The principle is right, from local self-government to the very widest national sphere. The line of demarcation is, and should be, more carefully drawn upon the qualifications of the individual voice or vote.

Some members of the press are disposed to argue that this party or that has been and is opposed to the proposed change of the manner of senatorial elections. There is little if indeed anything, in political history to commit one party more than another to opposition to the principle of a popular vote for the members of the Senate any more than to the House of Representatives. Individuals have been in opposition to it, but not because the principle was at fault but for purely political reasons.

For instance, in the election of members to the State legislatures the question of the election, by the legislature, of a Senator is a double victory or defeat for certain persons and considerations; the faction that secures the election of enough men to the legislature who favor the election of a particular man to the Senate usually, almost always, control them for other purposes in the State politics, hence it is a double victory—like killing two birds with one stone. No party is clear of employing those methods; the reform parties are no exception to the rule.

There is nothing of merit in the theory that one plan or the other of electing Senators would secure more ability, honor and integrity in the individual chosen; the House of Congress will show no better record on that score than the Senate. But it is a question of right method and carrying into full force the principles of a government by and for the people.

In proof of California's need of increased competition in transportation we quote from Huntington's testimony before the Railway Commission: "We ought to have 10,000,000 people in this state, and would have if we had a few enterprising men." Great truths are often indirectly supported.

NOTHING LIKE IT.

The howling winds may blow the advertisements off the fence or Law-son chew up the hand-bill which is tossed into the front gate, but neither the wind nor the dog can blow the newspaper away or cover up its effect, says the Santa Ana Blade. It goes right into the house and is read by each one of the family every day. It gets a front seat on the center table and when the paper is pasted on the kitchen wall it is still on deck, and its smiling face daily tells you of wonderful bargains or discounts.

LOCATING THE BIRD.

That quick wit is not confined to cities was proved the other day by a young woman who was rambling along one of the Long Island roads, remarks a New York paper. She was dressed smartly, she thought, and when she met a small, bare-legged urchin carrying a bird's nest with eggs in it she did not hesitate to stop him. "You are a wicked boy," she said. "How could you rob that nest? No doubt the poor mother is now grieving for the loss of her eggs." "Oh, she don't care," replied the urchin, edging away. "she's up in your hat."

EVERY man is a quotation from all his ancestors.—Emerson.

CHARACTER is bounded on the north by sobriety, on the east by integrity, on the west by industry, and on the south by gentleness.

RATHER than call an extra session of the Maine Legislature to provide means for mobilizing the State militia, Governor Powers proposes, it is said, to foot the bill himself.

WHEN annoyed or excited the Prince of Wales winks the left eye rapidly, the Emperor of Austria puffs out his cheeks, the Czar lays his hand on the top of his head and the Sultan of Turkey grasps his throat tightly with his hand.

THERE seems to be a notion abroad that the United States cannot hold the Monroe doctrine and a vigorous foreign policy at the same time. The American eagle, let it be understood, has two claws, not to mention a serviceable beak.—Chicago Tribune.

NOW THAT Shattuck avenue is paved and all right in the vicinity of the station there is no excuse for using the gates on the cars of the local trains. And it is a pleasure to note that for a day or two passengers have been getting on board from both sides. This is as it should be and may the gates continue to stand wide open.

True Verse.

There was a man in our town
Invested all his health,
With manly-avaricious aim,
To win the goal of wealth.
And when he had his wealth attained,
With all his might and main
He vainly lavished all his wealth
To get his health again.
—Richmond Dispatch.

ESTABE FOUND GUILTY OF KILLING GATES.

The case of Estabe for the killing of C. P. Gates in his temple parlor in Oakland the 27th of last March, was brought to an early close Tuesday. The contention of the defense was that there was no information filed, no arraignment had and the notes of the preliminary hearing were never filed as required by law. Judge Ogden in an impartial manner charged the jury, and at 2:35 the jury retired. It was just thirty minutes later when they announced their desire to return to the courtroom, and the verdict was: "We the jury in the above entitled case, find the defendant guilty of murder in the first degree."

ILLINOIS BOY PATRIOT.

He Has Only One Leg, but Wants to Fight the Spaniards.

Colonel Dan Ray, who, as everybody knows, is Senator Callon's political secretary, recently received a letter which illustrates the patriotism of "war" America. It comes from a boy in Illinois who wants to go to war, but says: "As you know, I am handicapped by the loss of my left leg. Before I go any further I want to say that I am not doing this with any boasting intent whatever, but to let you know just how the land lies with me. This is the first time I have ever committed myself in this way. I can ride a wheel, can get off and on a train going 10 to 12 miles an hour (and keep my balance); can climb wherever I can get a hand hold; have wrestled with boys weighing 25 to 30 pounds more than I, throwing them. I have done this only a few times with boys with whom I am acquainted. We have a set of boxing gloves, I can hold my own with these same boys (never tried any one else) for awhile, but they can wear me out in about 30 minutes.

"I have to stand without the aid of my crutch, and sometimes to preserve my balance during a rush I have to make a great many moves that any one else would not have to make. I have never mentioned the idea of my going to war to any one, for I have thought that there would be a very slight chance of my getting in. I would not want mother to think I had it in mind, although I am sure father would be perfectly willing. And, again, I did not want it said as it was about a young attorney here, who calling for men to fill a vacancy in the militia, he waited until he found what a rigid examination they had to pass and knew that he would not make it, then volunteered. Now, Mr. Ray, I think you fully understand my case. If you know of or should hear of anything that I might do, I am ready."—Washington Special, Chicago Record.

THE REGULARS AT TAMPA.

Their Physical Appearance Is Perfect—All
Are Muscular and Well-Fed.

Not one man in a hundred wears a coat. Almost without exception they are clad in dark blue shirts, light blue trousers and slouch hats. The brims of the hats are inclined at as many angles as there are individual preferences. Some are tipped up in front and some up behind, and many hang down all around. I do not believe that any great and rich nation ever before sent to war an army of soldiers in such picturesque guise. There is here a difference between 1898 and 1861, for in 1861 the boys were jaunty enough when they went out. These men are not shabby, but as the old lady said of the hippopotamus, dreadfully plain. Nevertheless they look "businesslike"—that is, as if they were not likely to be impeded by excess of clothing or hit more readily by the enemy on account of color or glitter. It would seem, however, that our nation, intensely practical though it is, might make in the garb of its soldiers a little further concession to the natural love of display. In masses the men look solid indeed and rocklike. One almost fancies that the dull uniform helps to make them look immovable and that a thin blue line does not look as thin as the "thin red line."

Solid fellows, too, the men are, for that matter. Their physical appearance is perfect. All are muscular and look well fed. They are a bulky contrast to the scrawnier civilian population that they jostle on Franklin street, the Broadway of Tampa. One wonders how much of this solidity is due to good food and how much to invigorating western and northern climates, also how long it will hold out in this or a lower latitude.—Cor-Providence Journal.

THE PRICE OF WHEAT.

How Mr. Leiter Has Helped His Country
In Its Present War.

Mr. Leiter's transactions in wheat were purely speculative. And yet in so far as Mr. Leiter's gambling transactions served to put up the price of wheat, or rather to establish more promptly its real value, Mr. Leiter has proved of great assistance to his country in its war with Spain. He has done more damage to the enemy than could have been inflicted by a battleship or an army brigade.

While the high price of wheat exposes the consumer in the United States to a certain inconvenience our country gets the benefits of the high prices paid not only by our citizens, but by all other countries as well. Moreover, we are fairly well able to stand it. We have plenty of corn and other staple articles of food at low prices.

But the damage done to Spain by wheat at $1.90 is beyond calculation. It is reflected in the bread riots in the socialistic agitation, in the increased difficulty of providing the war credits and in the demoralization of the government. It is even possible that the loaf of bread may be the last difficulty to break down an already feeble dynasty. If the price of wheat causes us any uneasiness, it is not without compensations.—New York World.

Only Want to Whip Spain.

The young women students at Northfield (Mass.) seminary serenaded D. L. Moody at his home the other evening, singing, principally patriotic songs. Among the students was a Spanish girl. Mr. Moody asked her if she was loyal to her country. She replied, "Yes." Mr. Moody said: "That's right. You shall not stand alone. I will stand with you. We do not want to hurt Spain, just whip her."—New York Tribune.

Needed at Home.

If Spain would gather in all the alleged spies she has at work in the United States, she would largely increase the armed force she proposes to pit against us.—Philadelphia North American.

On College Physical Training.

It seems odd to expect that any systematic physical training worthy of the name will be taken up by the mass of students on the voluntary system. Indifference, inattention, love of easy distraction in many directions, and a morbid devotion to study in some were boyish laziness, ignorance of the body and natural sluggishness and viciousness in others will prevent it unless the work is laid out and required. It ought of course to be a part of their education, not an accident of their recreation or a passing incident of their feverish and overwrought thirst for glory. There is no greater boon for boys than to have their work laid out for them, and the word "required" has no terrors at all for them, but quite the contrary, if the work itself is obviously beneficial. They welcome it. Being a fundamental and nearly universal need, physical training should not be the subject of election, but should be required of all except invalids and cripples, with exemption only as to the kind and form of exercise in the large field from which choice can be made.

The builder of a ten story modern building may have the largest freedom of choice as to architectural style, material, ornament and internal arrangements above the ground, but he can have no alternative as to his foundations, and the builders of our growing youth or the youth themselves should certainly have none in the same particular.—Harvard Graduate Magazine.

"Who Goes Home?"

There is nothing more amusing perhaps in all the quaint and curious customs of the house of commons than the strange ceremony which marks the termination of its every sitting. The moment the house is adjourned stentorian voiced messengers and policemen are out in the lobbies and corridors. "Who goes home?" These mysterious words have sounded every night for centuries through the palace of Westminster. The custom dates from a time when it was necessary for members to go home in parties accompanied by linksmen, for common protection against the footpads who infested the streets of London. But though that danger has long since passed away the question, "Who goes home?" is still asked night after night during the session of parliament. No reply is given, and none is expected.—Nineteenth Century.

The Pope's Titles.

These are the titles in full of the Roman pontiff: "His holiness Leo XIII, bishop of Rome, vicar of Jesus Christ, two hundred and fifty-eighth successor of the prince of apostles, supreme pontiff of the church universal, patriarch of the west, primate of Italy, archbishop and metropolitan of the Roman province, sovereign of the temporal dominions of the holy Roman church, prefect of the sacred congregations of the inquisition, the consistory of the apostolic visit, president of the pontifical commission for the reunion of dissenting churches and protector of the church and chapter of St. Celsus and St. Julianus, of the orders of St. Benedict, of preachers, of the Friars Minor and also of the archconfraternities of the Via Crucis, of Jesus and Mary and of the Stigmata of St. Francis."

Not His Department.

"I should think you would find this a very trying position," remarked the horrified visitor at the stockyards, gazing with a kind of hideous fascination at the gory artist whose business it was to silence the squealing porkers as they "trolleyed" past him, heads downward. "Trying?" answered the pig sticker. "Great Scott, no! The trying positions are all in the renderin' houses." And he silenced another pig.—Chicago Tribune.

HEALTH CATECHISM.

To Be Committed to Memory by All Dyspeptics, Invalids, Consumptives.

What is the first cause of indigestion of all disease?

Imperfect digestion of food. Why does imperfect digestion cause disease of other organs?

Because blood, muscles, bone and flesh are derived from the food we eat and digest. If digestion is perfect the blood is pure, nerves and muscles strong, flesh firm. If the digestion is poor, the blood is supplied from half-digested, fermenting food, irritating every nerve and organ. The result is, sooner or later, organic disease, because every organ being poorly nourished the weakest gives way first and we have liver trouble, kidney complaints, heart disease or consumption.

Is not dieting the usual and best treatment to cure indigestion?

No, because the dyspeptic has been starved long enough; what is needed is abundant nourishment, not the lack of it. The stomach and blood demand nutriment, not bran crackers.

What is the best method of cure?

Plenty of wholesome food well digested. But how can a weak stomach digest plenty of wholesome food?

By taking with the food after each meal certain harmless remedies which are known to digest food and thus nourish the blood and rest the weak stomach.

What are these harmless remedies?

The most valuable are vegetable ferments, pure pepsin, Golden Seal and fruit salts. All of these are now combined in the form of pleasant tasting tablets sold by druggists under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Are these tablets superior to the various liquid preparations so called dyspepsia cures?

Most decidedly, because all liquid medicines become stale with age and lose whatever good qualities they may have had originally, while the tablet retaining its properties indefinitely. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets can be carried in the pocket, always at hand ready for use when traveling or at daily occupation. They cost at 50 cents and should be kept in every family. They keep the digestion in perfect and save doctor's bills by warding off disease.

Are Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets adapted to all forms of dyspepsia?

Yes, because in all cases the trouble results from indigestion, fermenting food. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets cause the food to be digested before it has time to ferment.

If you wish to know more about them ask your druggist for a package and try them.
